

CASE STUDY: JOSH

Josh joined Bubble in 2023, as a member of our 19th cohort of Young Theatre Makers.

Alongside eight other cast members, he devised an original show, INFLUENCED, exploring themes of social media, trolling, family responsibilities and expectations, bullying, friendship and resilience.

Directly after the INFLUENCED tour, Josh completed work experience on 'Our Voices', a project working with care experienced young people in Southwark, devising a musical theatre piece about identity, race and culture.

Since then Josh has continued to work with Bubble, becoming one of our Associate Artists, employed on a freelance basis to deliver our projects in the community. Most recently we employed him as an actor-facilitator on a tour of 10 primary schools with our interactive show 'Playing Safe' about serious youth violence.

In 2025, Josh successfully applied to be a Bubble Young Ambassador. In his application, he explained:

“ I've fallen in love with Bubble. Not just the work you do but the way you genuinely support people like me. That personal connection has made me want to be involved in shaping how others experience Bubble, making sure they feel just as welcome and inspired as I do, and bringing in more interesting perspectives into Bubble. ”

