

CREATIVE HEALTH PROJECTS

FOR CHILDREN & YOUNG PEOPLE

Currently taking bookings from November 2025

Bubble for young people ✨

We make theatre opportunities accessible for underrepresented communities, and use drama-based approaches to support health and wellbeing goals.

At London Bubble Theatre we use drama to celebrate marginalised communities and advocate for underrepresented voices. Most of our work takes place in non-theatre settings and engages with people who may feel that theatre or the arts sector is not 'for them'.

Participant wellbeing is paramount to our practice.

We use FORUM THEATRE techniques inspired by Augusto Boal's 'Theatre of the Oppressed' to help people explore the disempowerment they experience.

CARE is at the centre of our work, and our projects are designed with social and emotional wellbeing in mind, adhering to John Burnham's 'Social Graces' model.

We coordinate the Southwark Creative Health & Wellbeing Partnership (SCHWeP).

Our projects are designed to achieve creative health related outcomes

Our creative practice supports the development of social and emotional skills. We follow a trauma-informed, SEND aware approach, creating a safe, supportive environment, focusing on using positive relationships as a tool for healing.

Expected Project Outcomes:

- Artistic excellence
- Improved social & emotional wellbeing
- Increased social connection
- Skills for life & work

Our Interventions can be used to support KPIs related to:

- Education, Training & Employment (ETE)
- Mental health & emotional support
- Connecting with wider services in the community
- Out of court disposals

We can also tailor delivery to support children with SEND.

Principles that sit at the core of our practice include:

- Child first
- Co-creation and youth voice
- Trauma-informed practice
- Understanding of neurodivergence
- Appreciation of lived experience
- Addressing societal power imbalances

WAY INTO WORK

Currently delivered in:

- Youth Justice Services
- Secondary schools

Work-readiness & interview
preparation programme
for 16–18 year olds

Interactive sessions culminating in a mock interview with a panel

16–18s are guided through a creative process that supports speaking positively about themselves in an interview context. We explore their attitudes to employment and address challenges they face finding work.

We do this by:

- Observing, discussing and giving advice to a character in a similar situation to their own
- Considering the impression we want to make in a work environment
- Helping identify young people's interests, goals and potential next steps
- Developing self-awareness and the ability to speak confidently about themselves
- Addressing body language
- Preparing content for answering interview questions

This project directly supports ETE objectives.

London Bubble projects with Southwark Youth Justice Service were independently evaluated in ‘Creating Justice Report 2021’

"With 'Way Into Work' I realised a lot of stuff makes me unique. I do know a lot of things and I have a lot of experiences I can use in an interview."

CREATIVE VOICES

Currently delivered in:

- Youth Justice Services
- Looked After Children's Services
- Secondary Schools

Drama intervention
programme for 11-18 year
olds about the issues and
themes affecting them

A 5-session drama project culminating in a sharing of the young people's work

Young People are supported to explore the themes and issues affecting their lives in a collaborative way, leading to a performance for an invited audience.

We do this by:

- Exploring the issues and themes most affecting young people in a safe, respectful and fun way
- Sharing ideas and opinions and challenging assumptions
- Developing team-working skills and better self-awareness by working collaboratively
- Telling the story young people want to tell, and sharing it with an invited audience
- Providing an opportunity for young people to be celebrated for their creative achievements which builds self-belief

"It's basic things that make me happy like smiling at the end and seeing they are proud of achieving something and having an audience of adults applauding them."
– Social Worker

Themes explored have been:

- Mental Health
- Peer Pressure
- Social Media
- Family Dynamics
- Safety
- Discrimination

89% of participants agreed or strongly agreed that they "felt listened to and accepted as part of the group"

- Up to 14 young people per group.
- Can take place at your premises or in a community space.
- 5-day minimum programme duration

"Its actually real good 'cos we do it all together, like make the character and try out ideas... and if you don't wanna act you can still be involved with your ideas."
– Young Person

STORY MAKERS

Drama programme
providing an opportunity
for 6–11 year olds to express themselves.

Currently delivered in:

- Looked After Children's services
- Community Centres

A fun, playful, week-long drama project culminating in a sharing of children's work

Children are encouraged to flex their imagination creating characters and stories, working towards a performance for an invited audience.

We use theatre to:

- Celebrate children's imagination and creativity
- Empower children to share their ideas and opinions
- Work collaboratively, developing team-working and social skills and better self-awareness
- Build children's self-confidence and performance skills
- Providing an opportunity for children to be celebrated for their creative achievements

"I love how the children's imagination was clearly centred in the project. London Bubble is always been a fantastic place for kids."

We deliver bespoke creative projects tailored to your community

London Bubble skillfully devise performances and create projects that respond to specific aims and objectives.

You can propose a brand new project that reflects your vision or let us help you develop one from scratch.

We are experienced at working with children and young people aged 6 – 25, with expertise in working with marginalised and vulnerable groups, those with SEND and even those who don't think drama is for them!

We also use our creative approach to make promotional films for local authorities, and develop interactive performances and activities for staff training and away days.

Let us know what you hope to achieve, your target audience and budget, and we'll do the rest.

By choosing us to deliver a project or showcase a play, you are supporting the ongoing costs of running our charity and creating employment opportunities for practitioners who have come through our community.
